

Presenter bio sketches

Mary A. Ott, M.D., is an Assistant Professor of Pediatrics and LEAH faculty member at the Indiana University School of Medicine. An adolescent medicine specialist, Dr. Ott's clinical and research programs focus on adolescent sexuality, reproductive health, contraception, and sexual abstinence.

Erica Monasterio, MN, FNP is a Clinical Professor of Pediatrics and Nursing at the University of California, San Francisco. She is the Nurse Faculty in the Leadership Education in Adolescent Health program in the Division of Adolescent Medicine. Her special interests are in developing accessible, interdisciplinary, community-based services for youth and integrating mental health, sexual health, STD and HIV services for youth into primary care settings.